The Life of Henr

O For a Muse of Fire, that would ascend
The brightest Heauen of Invention :
A Kingdome for a Stage, Princes to Act,
And Monarchs to behold the swelling Scene.
Then should the Warlike Harry, like himselfe,
Assume the Port of Mars, and at his heeles
(Least in, like Hounds) should Famine, Sword, and Fire
Crouch for employment. But pardon, Gentles all :
The star vnrayed Spirits, that hath dar'd,
On this unworthy Scaffold, to bring forth
So great an Obiect. Can this Cock-Pit hold
The vastie fields of France ? Or may we cramme
Within this Woodden O, the very Caskes
That did affright the Ayre at Agincourt ?
O pardon : since a crooked Figure may

Enter the two Bishops of Canterbury and Ely.

Bispe. Cant.

MY Lord, Ile tell you, that selfe Bill is vrg'd,
Which in the cleueth yere of y last Kings reign
Was like, and had indeed against vs past,
But that the scrambling and vnquiet time
Did push it out of farther question.

Bispe. Ely. But how my Lord shall we resist it now?

Bispe. Cant. It must be thought on: if it passe against vs,

We loose the better halfe of our Possession :

For all the Temporall Lands, which men deuout

By Testament haue giuen to the Church,

Would they strip from vs ; being valu'd thus,

As much as would maintaine, to the Kings honor,

Full fifteene Earles, and fifteene hundred Knights,

Six thousand and two hundred good Esquires :

And to reliefe of Lazars, and weake age

Of indigent faint Soules, past corporall toyle,

A hundred Almes-houses, right well supply'd :

And to the Coffers of the King beside,

A thousand pounds by th'yeere Thus runs the Bill.

Bispe. Ely. This would drinke deepe.

Bispe. Cant. 'T would drinke the Cup and all.
